Northern!

A collage of approximately 15 student faces, each with a unique expression. Some are smiling, some are making funny faces like sticking out their tongue or blowing a bubble, and others are looking serious or thoughtful. The faces are arranged in a grid-like pattern, with some overlapping.

When asked who you are, how do you respond? Well, we are all students, we all comprise this school and we all come to the same place everyday to learn something; but we are all so much more then that. We are human beings and that allows us to be anything we set our minds to.

We could be the star quarterback, or the lead in a musical, or maybe we are the rockstar jamming out at Battle of the Bands. We could be the straight A student, or perhaps we would rather doodle then do math equations. No matter what we are, no matter what we become, we all have the ability to accomplish great things.

As you reflect on this year's accomplishments I want you to ponder the question,

Who Am I?

"I have so much pride in my culture it's ridiculous."

There are over 120,000 Chaldeans in the Metro Detroit area. However, there are barely any signs of this culture in Port Huron. Bianca ('11), Brandon ('12), Alanna ('12), and Andrea Marrogy ('13) reassure us that Chaldeans still exist while walking through the halls of Port Huron Northern.

Chaldeans are a Christian, predominantly Catholic ethnic group from the Middle East. Their language, Aramaic, was said to be spoken by Jesus Christ. "I take pride in knowing that I speak the language of Christ," says Bianca.

Chaldeans are known for being very well-mannered, and for their success in the business field. An estimated 8,000 businesses in the Detroit area are Chaldean-owned. Bianca says, "I'm always in Detroit on the weekends, staying with family, going to parties. All of my cousins think Port Huron is so boring." But these parties aren't what you'd picture. "Our weddings are very lavish, over the top celebrations. It's like stepping into a storybook."

"Growing up in Port Huron was a very valuable experience," explains Bianca. "It provided me with the opportunity to appreciate other people and their cultures, while sharing mine with those who are willing to learn."

To wear a pentagram represents that you feel a connection with the elements and respect the earth. The five points represent the spirit, the earth, water, fire and air.

The cross is a symbol representing the Christian religion. It symbolizes the ending to sin and darkness and the welcoming of redemption and light.

The Star of David represents the blue star in the center of the flag of Israel. It has become a symbol of unity to the Jewish people.

The Aum symbol can be seen as a symbolic representation of the various psychological compartments of the psyche. Each part has a relationship to the divine within.

What do you believe in?

Jake Maheu('12)

I am an athiest. I've never considered myself "spiritual". The idea never clicked on me. Not being really bound to follow something specific gives you more choices in life.

Since I've grown up with my religion, I've always had set boudaries that I guess I'm accustomed to. My faith has given me hope. I think everyone needs to feel like there is a meaning and reason to life, and that is what my God is to me. He is hope.

I am an individual.

I turn heads.

Do you follow the trends or set your own rules? The best thing about style is that no one can tell you you're wrong. You dress the way you dress to be comfortable, get noticed, or to just go with the flow. You may not notice what others wear, but be sure that people are noticing you. Be cool, unique, or totally average. The choice is up to you.

"I dress the way I dress because I want other people to see me and know that you don't have to dress like everyone else to be cool. I think people should wear what they feel like wearing and break free from their "clique". After all, to thine own self be true."

Art has been in Amanda Maul's life since birth. Amanda('14) had her own teacher growing up, her father. "My father is a big inspiration to me. He's an amazing artist and encourages me to expand and improve myself as an artist," she says. Amanda finds art as a way to express herself as an individual. Where does she hope her passion for art will take her in the future? To be a teacher; "I would love to teach art so I can show others the beauty in art from the inside out and maybe my teaching could make another person fall in love with art, just as I have."

Falling down our school's stairs is kind of a tradition for Daniel Jennings('11); he's done it at least once a year. Daniel, better known as DJ, can sit and write all day. He has a notebook that he just writes about random things in. DJ says he is really good at running. On a random day, he could run 13 miles straight. DJ also played football for two years, baseball for three years, and has played soccer for 15 years. His role model is Diego Farlan because "he didn't have any natural skill in soccer. He just worked really hard to get where he is and it shows."

A Picture Is Worth a Thousand Words

Taking a picture is a way to capture a moment, or even a memory. But according to Marisah Arispe('11), there's more to it than just that. She has been interested in photography ever since she got her first digital camera in the seventh grade. "I've always liked looking at images. You can tell so much from a picture," she says. Her favorite things to photograph are people, emotions, and the environment. "People are just so interesting, they fascinate me. You can gain so much more out of a photo if someone is in it, especially if there is a strong emotion captured. There is just more depth and more life," she says. Marisah's motivation for photography is simply personal gain. She doesn't do it for anyone but herself.

After Marisah graduates she plans on attending Kendall College of Art and Design in Grand Rapids. She hopes to major in art or photography, or get into studio journalism or commercial photography. Marisah has had her artwork entered in the Studio 1219 Art Show, the Scholastic Art and Writing Awards Competition, and she has a piece of her art hanging in our PAC. Someday she wants to open her own studio and move to a big city like San Francisco, New York, or Chicago. She also aspires to be like her role model, Nicole Roark. Roark isn't that famous, but she works for concerts to take pictures of bands while they perform, and Marisah wants to do something like that when she gets older.

Helping out the environment is another big part of Marisah's life. She is president of our T.R.E.E. club. She says she has been trying to go green for years now. "When I was in the tenth grade a few of my friends told me about the club because they thought I'd be interested, and I was. I saw it as an opportunity to help not only our school, but our community become more environmentally friendly." Saving the environment is just part of who she is, and she'll always try to make the world a better place.

Capturing a moment, creating something out of nothing, and going green are the main components in Marisah's life, and she'll go far with anything she sets her mind to.

Zack has been playing tennis for a year, and Nicole Boone('14) states, "Zack is really good at tennis and I've always been jealous of him for it." Also, he learned to play the guitar when he was 13 and he hopes to someday learn to play an "intense solo."

All I Do Is Nguyen

ALL I DO IS NGUYEN

Varsity wrestler as a freshman, Beast of the Beach in 2009, 2nd in the state for AAU wrestling, and 2nd place at States for powerlifting are some of Kevin Nguyen's('13) accomplishments. Kevin has been wrestling for the past four years, and he says it's his favorite sport because "it's hard, challenging, and fun. I always wanted to wrestle as a child." As much as he loves wrestling, after he graduates he has a few other things in mind. He actually wants to be either a firefighter, or go into the culinary arts. He loves to cook, and also he wants to save lives. Perfect combination, right? Kevin hopes to go to the University of San Diego. All of his family lives in California and "it'll just be better going to college in California," he claims.

Aside from wrestling, Kevin also really enjoys powerlifting and working out. If he loves anything more than wrestling, it's the Cutting Edge gym. He usually goes to the Edge everyday, and it is his sanctuary. "The Edge is a place where I can express myself," he explains. He goes there for 2-4 hours depending on the day. Exercising is very important to him, and he says, "It's important to everyone and can benefit everyone. It's just good for you."

Not only does Kevin work himself as hard as he can to succeed in wrestling and be healthy, but he also gets along with everyone. Much of our student body has actually chosen to display his name on their wrists. Considering that you pronounce is last name as "win", and the song "All I Do Is Win" by DJ Khaled, Kevin has created and sold wristbands with the phrase "All I Do Is Nguyen" engraved in them. "One day I wanted a wristband that said that, just for me, but then I realized I could provide a way for my friends to remember me just by looking at their wrists," he says happily. Since then he has sold at least 200 wristbands, and all of his friends have been delighted to receive them.

Kevin Nguyen is not a common name, nor is he a common person. He is doing whatever he can to benefit himself, and others around him. He's a phenomenal wrestler, athlete, and friend. Someday he will live out his dreams and be successful.

We pass so many people in the hallways every day, but do we really know them? Andrea Marrogy ('13) speaks two languages; English and Chaldean. Although her parents lived in Iraq, she was born here. Her family is huge and they get together often. They once had a family picnic where over 100 people attended. Along with having a huge family, Andrea plays many sports including basketball and track. Kayleigh Brough ('13) says "She always has a smile on her face, she makes me laugh and of course she's beautiful."

The cross-country runner is used to the open road, long and winding courses, and a perfectly steadied pace. Friends would never suspect that freshman cross-country runner Alyssa Modrich ('14) could be raising and showing rabbits. At one point, she and her sister had as many as 100 bunnies under their care. Holland Lops and Californians are her specialty breeds and she shows them annually in local county fairs. She traveled to Minnesota in November for a National Competition. "I love showing bunnies! My favorite part is getting to meet new people at all the shows and competitions."

Ever since the day they met in 7th grade, Danielle Masterton('11) and Ashley Schrader('11) have been best friends. They had mutual friends and met during lunch one day. Not only do they share the same friends, they both play softball, go to the same church, enjoy shopping and they have the exact same class schedule this year.

Because of all their similarities, people tend to ask if they're sisters. They might as well be, considering they call each other's parents mom and dad, and they're together six days a week. Their favorite place to be together is the Castle Park in St. Clair. "One time Ashley and I went there for my birthday, and it's the coolest park ever. It was like being a little kid again," says Danielle.

Although they're together almost every day, and they're practically sisters, of all the years they've been friends, they've never gotten in a fight or let anything stand between their friendship. No matter what happens they're always there for each other. "Whenever I'm down or in a bad mood, Danielle knows exactly what to say to make me laugh or feel better," explains Ashley.

Over the past five years, Danielle and Ashley have been through everything it's possible for two teenage girls to go through, and they're still the perfect duo.

Alexandrea Perry('14) loves to draw. "It's a fun thing to do in my free time," says Alexandria. Her favorite thing to draw is people. She also plays the trombone in the band, and loves to play the song "Country Wildflowers." "We went to the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association competition and got all 1s. All three bands got 1s, it was cool," says Alexandria. Since all three bands got 1s, Mr. Senkmajer died his hair blue and gold. "He also bought as cake, it was so awesome!"

"We met in 1st grade at Keewahdin Elementary school and it was love at first sight! We're five days apart and sometimes combine our birthday parties. We enjoy picking strawberries, raising farm animals, and updating our profiles on www.match.com. Really though, we've been there for each other through thick and thin and nobody has ever come between us. Our families are each other's families. Our favorite memory would have to be Chicago or our giant pillow of inside jokes. Yes we're tacky but we love each other! We call each other ugly and make fun of each other, but that's what makes us, us."

"It keeps me fit and you meet new people all the time." She's also in marching band, and plays clarinet. Her favorite song they played this year is "The Incredibles". "I'm a band geek," explains Lauren, "and it's fun to play with the rest of the band and learn new things all the time."

"I like to touch up my wardrobe by buying a new pair of jeans here and there."

"She is the Gallagator" says Adam Rose('11). Erin Gallagher('13) is a sophomore this year, and was on the JV volleyball team. She started playing volleyball in th 7th grade. She is an outside hitter who always tries her hardest. In her spare time she enjoys hanging out with her friends and going to bonfires. Her future dream is to go to University Michigan and become a doctor. Erin always has a positive attitude, she tries very hard in school and doesn't care what people think about her.

Looking to buy new sunglasses? Jimmy checks out Target in hopes of finding a new pair.

Step 7

It takes time to master the balance, grace and power of figure skating. McKale Bingham('13) has been skating since she could walk. "I love to skate. It feels so good to learn a new skill you've been working so hard on." says McKale. McKale has skated for a total of 13 years and two year for the high school skating team. McKale has the support and love from her teammates. They've become close over the years of struggles and triumphs. McKale hopes to skate in college and then will probably be done competing, but she doesn't think she'll ever hang up her skates for good.

The Zombieland of PHN

Creeping around and lurking through the halls, the Zombies of PHN search for their choice of meat. Here at Northern, we have a large variety to choose from; the fresh meat of freshmen, the senior sauteed specials, the horrific hipsters tasting of tofu and dirty sweaters, the sweet 'n salty student council, and the dry, unappealing, low-fat buttered nerds. Some zombies prefer a healthier alternative, so have no fear, the chicken-flavored tough, lean and healthy jocks are available.

Years ago, the school had a strict policy of keeping the population of zombies at a steady rate, but lately, everything has gone haywire. The freshman, seniors, nerds, and jocks have pitted themselves against each other, clawing and devouring as many as they can. The zombies are usually able to hold off their feasting rampages until lunch time, although sometimes you catch yourself moaning and groaning, desperately trying to escape the gruesome zombie clinging onto you, hoping to get a mouthful of meaty, green-colored flesh.

Aside from brutally attacking each other every other minute, the zombies all share a deep love for school spirit. The only time you could get them to stop gnawing at each other's throats, literally, is by hosting a pep assembly! A selected zomb hobbles around the Zombie Recreational Center, waving a giant bone created from deceased zombie arm and leg bones. Otherwise known as the "Pep Bone", and they all yell the remainder of their hearts out.

Spending a day here either ends by you getting attacked and consumed, or by you having a terrific time at a Pep Assembly. Whichever one happens, there's never a dull moment, and the Zombies of PHN are always welcoming a new meal.

Some people belong on land but Alex Shier('13) belongs on the ice. He has been playing hockey for the past 10 years and he loves it. "I've been playing since I was a little kid, and my whole family has played, I love to be on the ice," he says. In addition to hockey, Alex has also been playing football for four years, and basketball for three. When he graduates he wants to go play hockey at a university.

Alyssa Modrich('14)

Heather Krauss('14) bowls for a hobby. "I made it on Junior Varsity, but got moved up to Varsity," Heather says. She likes hanging with her friends and having fun. "Anyone can play, it's just fun to do." She also plays clarinet in band and during the summer she goes to band camp. You make lots of friends at camp and get many opportunities to do things. Her favorite song they played at the football games was "The Incredibles". We got to play in the Thanksgiving Parade and "It was so much fun," says Heather.

What will we be remembered by?

Honestly, instead of having 80's themed parties, our grandchildren will have "new millenium" parties, filled with vampire apparel and teased hair(not that that hasn't been done before.) Everyone says that a person is remembered by their kind-heartedness and acheivments; this is true. But every generation is recognized by it's trends as well. We are a student body full of jeggings, patterned tights and plaid button-ups. We've gone from High School Musical(2006) to Barack Obama to Justin Bieber. These fashion, musical and political events are defining traits of our age group. What else will we see in our lifetime? From living through the Twilight Saga, all the way to seeing our first African American president; these things are important. Heck, they're awesome.

Maria Souphis('11) has an interesting high school career; she's homecoming queen and has a twin sister named Olivia. When asked how it feels to be graduating, she says, "It's so good because everything is coming together. It's like I'm accomplishing everything I've wanted since freshman year." She loves PHN and is glad that she's made so many memories, including becoming homecoming queen in her final year. Maria is looking forward to going to either University of Michigan or Michigan State to study medicine.

Between her social life and school, Delaney Dooley('14) always has something to do. She enjoys riding her horses and playing sports, and played for Northern's freshman volleyball team as a right side hitter. Their team took second place in both tournaments they participated in. She is currently on the girl's varsity tennis team playing doubles with Megan Loftus('12). "The best thing about volleyball is that we're all a family and we all stick together, true thing," says Delaney.

Seniors then and now

James Wilson ('11) 2007

Tony Richards ('11) 2007

Senioritis hits and we can't wait to get out. We can't wait to escape the cluttered halls and stuffy classrooms. We want to get to college and party with our new friends, live on our own in our little dormrooms and finally feel that freedom that we've waited so long for.

And then, when it comes to actually picking out our major, our college, and eventually, our futures, it freaks us out. We realize that we're going to have to leave the town that we complain so much about. Our minds drift back to the bridge and beaches that we've become so accustomed to, the Raven and the board walk. It's intimidating to think about a future that used to seem so far away. It's always going to be hard to say goodbye to the neighborhood kids we've known since kindergarden and the friends we made back in junior high.

But we're ready. We know it's time to move on from the town we've grown up in to bigger and much, much better things. We're ready to stop being kids... and start being adults. But before we officially take that plunge into the great unknown, let's reflect on the memories that molded us to where we are now. Let's reflect on then and now.

Born on the Tyndall Air Force Base in Florida, Devin Brennan ('11) naturally wants to join the Air Force. Both of his parents "participated in the opportunistic advantages of the Air Force".

"Music is going to be my prosopography, so I intend on writing music and/or conducting advanced bands. I intend to participate in the USAF American Heritage Band and achieve a doctorate in conducting."

When asked why Devin wants to join the Air Force he stated, "They fund all essentials I require and won't need to concern myself with debt for schooling."

What exactly is vocal theory? "Vocal theory is simply the study of music, you learn how to read music and understand notes so you can learn music all on your own." Vocal theory is the major that Samantha Garcia ('11) wants to pursue. "What got me interested was my love for music. I've been singing since I could talk and ever since I've wanted to learn about music," states Samantha, "I've been in choir since I was a freshman so I've been practicing reading and singing music for four years now, plus this year I'm in three different choir classes."

She wants to attend Macomb Community College because of their outstanding musical/vocal program and after college she would like to continue her musical career.

There is a growing demand for individuals in the Cyber Security field. Cyber Security is a top priority for government, corporations and institutions, which rely on technology and the Internet for information, commerce and security purposes. Paul Nevado ('11) plans on studying Cyber Security at University of Detroit Mercy. "You can work with law enforcement such as the FBI, or you could open up your own private company. It's a five year masters program that involves using computers, which I've always enjoyed working with."

Paul chose to study at University of Detroit Mercy because "it's closer to home and they have small class sizes." Paul was also awarded $16,500 in scholarships by the University of Detroit Mercy! "UDM has numerous scholarships that are available to anyone. They are a private school so they give out large scholarships based on your high school GPA and ACT or SAT scores."

What better reason can someone have than to have a career that has helped them sometime in their life? Merissa McTaggart ('11) plans on becoming a physical therapist because "I've gone through physical therapy as a patient and just saw it as an interesting job. The way a physical therapist just understands the human body and knows how to help, it just made me want to help people like that."

She's planning on attending the undergrad program at Central Michigan University. Merissa then wants to get her PhD in physical therapy. "I would like to focus on my job for a few years, then eventually open my own office for physical therapy."

People have always said that time goes by fast, and now for the first time in my life I can say I agree with them. Can you believe that we're already graduating? It seems like yesterday that we were walking through the doors of PHN beginning our freshmen year. Three amazing years flew by and now we find ourselves closing one chapter of our life and starting a new one. I want to thank all of you for making my time in high school some of the best years of my life...I will never forget the football games, dances, games assemblies, and everything that we have experienced together. This journey was truly incredible, and the memories we have will last forever. I can't wait for the day I can see all of you again, living your dreams and becoming the people you wish to be. The bonds we've created in high school are special because we have all grown up through these years with each other, a transformation from freshmen to senior year. And what an amazing senior year we've had! Our class is very unique, and we have certainly left our "husky print" here. So let me just say to never forget the moments you've experienced here at Port Huron Northern - I know we all have so much ahead of us that we're dying to explore for tomorrow, but just remember to stop, take a breath, and enjoy today because it's always good to have an end to your journey, but it is the journey that truly matters in the end. Cheers!

A large group of high school students, primarily juniors, are seated in bleachers. The students are dressed in casual attire, including t-shirts, hoodies, and jeans. Some students are looking towards the camera, while others are looking away or talking to each other. The bleachers are made of light-colored wood. A blue metal railing runs across the middle of the image. In the foreground, a white brick wall is visible, with a yellow sign featuring the letters 'W' and 'S' partially obscured. The word 'JUNIORS' is overlaid in large, bold, yellow capital letters across the center of the image.

Lights, camera, action. These three words are not out of the ordinary for Praheetha Muthuvinaiyagom ('13). She really enjoys reading and ever since she was younger she would act out the stories in the books. A family friend noticed Praheetha's outgoing personality and told her that she should join drama club. In 7th grade, her performance in Liberty Street was the most memorable, she says, "I played a character the complete opposite of myself, she was a rough tom boy that was obsessed with money, I liked the challenge of being something so different." Praheetha performs a number of ways, whether for school projects or just with friends.

Remember the days back in kindergarden when we all played at McDonalds playland? Well that's when Shane Richardson ('12) had his most embarrassing moment. "I had to use my grandma's socks to play in the playland because I forgot mine." Now one of his biggest pet peeves is when kids make fun of other kids. Shane is a very active kid and he works at Chuckie Cheese. His favorite part about work is being able to pick what job he wants to do. Shane is very hardworking student and postive, and his childish ways will always show, thanks to the memory in the McDonalds playland.

You may see him in the hallways, or maybe in the lunchroom. Tanner McTaggart ('13) loves art and drawing, and he is thinking about joining an art class. Most of all, he has a passion for golf. "Golf is a great way to calm down and relax." Tanner used to play hockey for about seven years. Sadly, he was flat footed and had a spinal condition. "The next best thing is golf." His uncle inspired him to try golf. They joined a competition together. "It was a fun experience" Tanner said, "They helped me learn some new tips. A player came over to teach me how to hold my club right, then said, "Give it a shot". Now, Tanner plays golf regularly.

Soccer, is Leon Boyd-Cleaver's ('11) favorite sport and passion. If he could be someone else he would be David Beckham, because he is great at soccer. Leon says the craziest dare he has ever done is when he ran around a neighborhood naked after he just got out of the lake. Leon's most embarrassing moment here at PHN was when he was walking up the stairs and tripped then played it off like no one saw him. After high school, Leon plans on going for college to become a physical or massage therapist.

Drenched in sweat, covered in pads, gasping, and trying to take in more of the cool, icy air, Alex Archibald ('12) steals the puck and sends it back up to his offense. Alex plays defense, and he hopes to play in college at the University of Michigan. "U of M is good at sports and I think it would be fun to play hockey there," he says. "Alex is a handsome, masculine and talented hockey player," states Jimmy Glombowski ('12). Alex also plays golf. "Golf and hockey are both fun to play and I really like them both." After graduation he's not positive on what he plans to do, but he thinks that it would be fun to be a lawyer because he would make a lot of money.

The old phrase "Don't judge a book by it's cover" stays with Emily Markopolous ('12). You may know her as the girl who runs cross country, or who likes to hangout with friends, but what you may not know is that she has a profound passion for music. Emily has played the violin for the past 9 years. The violin is 23 inches long and 14 inches wide with an 8 inch arm, but when it's played correctly it can create beautiful music. "After awhile the violin becomes a part of you. It just kind of grows on you and it makes me happy" said Emily as she describes why she loves and continues to play the violin. Emily could be described as an artsy person. She sings in the school's concert choir, which is the hardest choir to get into. Her other interest includes acting and drawing. "I've been in three plays and had fun in everyone of them. It is a good way to hangout with all my friends, as well as make new ones." As of right now, Emily's life practically revolves around music and other types of arts, and she hopes to continue this life style throughtout her life. Emily wants to go to a university for music and hopefully become a music teacher.

"Jacqueline is a good player and I was happy to have her on my team." says Stormy Troxel ('14). As much as Jacqueline enjoys volleyball, she doesn't plan on playing in college. Instead, she plans to join the TEC program in her junior and senior years for cosmetology. "I love skin, hair, make-up, and everything like that, and I want to be a cosmetologist." she gushes. Jacqueline hope to go to Baker College because, "it's a good college where I can get a degree." Jacqueline is going to get all the training she can to become can amazing cosmetologist.

Manliest Beards:

Tyler Thompson ('12) doesn't shave his beard but he shaves around it. Nothing really inspired him to grow a beard, but he just decided to try it. He likes it because it's cool.

David Brown ('13) shaves on average, two to three times a week. David has had a beard since 7th grade. David likes his beard because it makes him look older.

Zack Fournier ('12) shaves his beard two times a week. Zack loves his beard, and his favorite part is when girls play with his beard.

The technology aspect of life is what interests Michael Agosta ('14). Most of the time Michael is just having fun on his computer playing games. His favorite computer game is Thing-Thing 4. "I like to play Thing-Thing 4, because it's fun and I get to shoot people. " After highschool Micheal would like to become an auto mechanic because he likes to work on cars.

Being a part of many activities has helped Jessica Baker ('12) focus on what she wants to do in the future. Jessica enjoys playing the piano and singing. She's been singing all her life. "I'm in love with music and when I go to college I either want to minor or major in it." Jessica also runs cross country and track, but she prefers cross country. "I like cross country more because you get to go into the forest and there's a change of scenery. It's just more exciting." Jessica's dream college is University of Michigan and she wants to do something musical or artsy for a career.

Kayleigh Brough ('13) loves to play piano in her free time, inspired by The Lady Mat who plays piano at her church. Kayleigh taught herself by "watching YouTube and watching the way peoples' hands move as well as listening to the sounds." She took lessons when she was 10 years old. "I didn't like learning the notes so I stopped and decided to start up again last year." She has been playing the piano since then. The first song she wrote was for a lullaby for a newborn baby boy. Keep it up Kayleigh!

Balance, coordination, and flexibility are all key skills Amanda Holderby ('13) has as a gymnast. When she was younger she was overly energetic, so her mom decided to give gymnastics a shot. Amanda has now been performing gymnastics for 13 years and is placed in level 9 of ability. During her years of being a gymnast, she has competed at states for the past five years. She has also done well at regionals, which is a combination of five states. Amanda says, "I plan on doing it in college." Her dedication and passion for the sport is leading her on the right path to success.

It takes a lot of dedication to play a sport like football. Jake White ('12) has been playing it for four years on the school team. He was a lineman this year and really helped his team win! When he's not playing on the school team, you can find him playing with the kids in his neighborhood. After high school, Jake plans on going to college to become a metal welder. It takes a lot of skill and practice to achieve at metal welding, and Jake White has all the skills needed for it.

"AHH ACE!" Is what Karley Warwick ('11) and the Port Huron Northern Huskies shout on the volleyball court during game time. Karley has participated in volleyball for a total of five years. She first tried out in the eighth grade, and she was hooked on the sport. During college Karley is considering joining a club involved with volleyball. "Volleyball is one of the biggest team friendly sports. It's very important to keep yourself and the team strong," says Karley. Dedication and loyalty to the team is what builds not only the strength of the team as a whole but builds character for a soul.

You can most likely find Andrew Moore ('13), reading, writing, or on the computer. "Today's society is mostly technology, so I have to keep up with it!" He loves reading because it is enjoyable, and he loves writing because it is creative. Andrew is also in student council and an altar server at church since 7th grade. "I enjoy student council because I feel like I'm helping the school become a better place." He enjoys altar serving because he can be an active part of church. Andrew's favorite quote is; "Be yourself! People will like you if you are who are not phony!"

The main punishment for the majority of sports is running. For Tyler DeLange ('13) running is his sport. He has been running track since the 7th grade, and made varsity as a freshmen. He also was on the varsity cross country team and ran the one mile, two mile and two mile relay. Tyler says, "I love to run because it's a good form of exercise and I'm passionate about it." As much as he loves running, he doesn't plan on playing any sports in college. He plans on going to MSU to become a veterinarian because he has been around animals his whole life and he is always looking to help them.

If you want to meet someone fun, crazy, and interesting you may want to meet Amy Finkel ('13). Amy loves to experience things that many other people wouldn't normally do. "I've crowd surfed, hid in other peoples' lockers to scare them, and gave myself a swirly." Not only does Amy enjoy doing random things she loves to volunteer. "I go on mission trips with my church to Mexico. We build houses for the poor people in the village." And her experience really changed her perspective. On one of her trips to Mexico she experienced a 7.2 earthquake that was worse than the one in Haiti. "It was an awesome experience, it was pretty scary too but everyone was okay." Overall Amy is a down to earth person.

A large group of high school freshmen students are seated in bleachers, filling the frame. They are dressed in casual attire, including t-shirts, hoodies, and jeans. The students exhibit a variety of expressions and postures, some looking towards the camera while others look away. The word "FRESHMEN" is prominently displayed in the center of the image in large, bold, yellow capital letters. The background shows more students in the upper rows of the bleachers, creating a sense of a large gathering.

The month of October Kaine Santo ('14) was awarded Athlete of the month for Port Huron Northern's freshmen class. Ranked high with athletic ability Kaine participates in baseball, football, basketball, and just being a kid. He has played travel baseball for the past three years, holding the positions of captain and catcher, but baseball has been a part of his life since age seven. Kaine's main position is catcher and he says, "I hope to be a catcher for Northern's baseball team this year." Kaine, captain and starter linebacker for Northern's freshman football team, was asked to join the varsity football team for playoffs which is a huge honor. Kaine received the Iron Man award at the football awards ceremony. The last sport Kaine is involved in is the basketball team. The time Kaine has left after sports he says, "I ride my fourwheeler, hangout with my friends, and spend time with my family." Kaine Santo is an all around all-star and just beginning his sport career for Port Huron Northern.

Janelle Answorth ('11)

We're Finally Here...

Being a student at Port Huron Northern is an experience you'll never forget. To be a freshman at Northern may be something one would want to... but hopefully not. When you first walk in the doors you see smiling faces, those "freaks" standing in the corner, and a whole lot of blue and gold. You go through your important "firsts" like: your first pep-assembly, your first slushie from the school store, and your first time slipping on the snow in the winter. People will laugh at you, and you learn to laugh along with them. From your first to your last year in high school, you learn and change so much you might not even recognize your freshman-self when you're done. Until you're head of the house the view never changes. Forget about all the dirty looks, the drama and the bad food. On graduation day all you'll remember are the concerts, the games, the dances, the laughs and how far you've come. Treasure the memorable experiences and the people you meet. Being a freshman is an important part of the process. Be proud and look towards the future.

Hip-hop, ballet, contemporary, lyrical, jazz, and pom. These are all dance forms that Sarah Mertz('12) has participated in. Sarah started dancing when she was two years old and has been doing it for 14 years now. She loves to perform and move her body to the music. Sarah attends Fabulous Feet Dance Studio, where contemporary is her favorite form because "it combines many different types of dance," she says. When Sarah graduates, she strives to join the Ferris State dance team, which has been a dream of hers for some time. Dance is Sarah's passion, her talent "comes from the soul."

"A good thing I experienced when I came to Northern was Husky Link. The people who led it were very nice and friendly. They also made me excited for school. "

Devin Tomilson

"My first impression of Northern was that there was so many more people and the school was really big. As the year went on though, it doesn't seem big at all. "

Alexia Wirtz

"Entering Northern, a good thing I experienced was that the teachers were welcoming and nice. Also you have more freedom and greater responsibility."

Skating down the rink and taking in as much cool, icy air as you can is a feeling most people don't experience, but Hayley Cox('12) is an exception. Haley has been playing hockey for 13 years, and she plays defense/wing. She looks up to Steve Yzerman. "Hayley pushes herself until she literally can't breathe, it's awesome," says Sarah Hall('13). As good of an athlete Hayley is, she actually wants to go to Grand Valley State University and go into the criminal justice program.

People are entitled to having their own opinions on school subjects. Some like biology and some don't, Mr. Fay feels that "Biology is life. If you ignore it, it is going to bite." He graduated from U of M and majored in biology. He got his masters degree and won other awards for continued education. Mr. Fay also teaches physical science and he says that "It is our world and how it works, to not understand the natural world is to live in ignorance." Mr. Fay loves his students and being a part of their lives to help make them successful.

As one of our newer teachers at Northern, Mr. Neal is bringing many of his ideas, passion, and enthusiasm into his classes. "I can't get every student to pass ELA, but that doesn't mean that every single student can't learn something about one another and hopefully make the world a slightly better place," he shared. "My favorite part of teaching is the fun I have in class. There hasn't been a day that has gone by where I haven't had a good laugh about something with my students." Many of the students were very excited when Mr. Neal returned to Northern. He's a great teacher and always can give a good laugh.

Posing for the camera, Bonnie Basner, Lynne Herbert, Jen Knox and Lorie Matthews smile with grace. The PHN lunch ladies work hard and efficiently to dish out our daily lunches.

Taking a student's order, Amy Miller plugs and chugs on the computer. Making sure everything is plugged into the computer is important.

Stopping for a quick pose, Bonnie Basner flashes her dazzling smile. Restocking every lunch is important so every student can get what they need.

"The witness of a light bulb illuminating in a student's mind," Mrs. Zyrowski says her favorite part about being an English teacher. Mrs. Zyrowski teaches AP Literature classes along with eleventh grade English. AP classes assist students for the challenge of reading and comprehending an immense amount of literature such as they might experience in college. Her goals are to successfully prepare students for the demands of literacy that are placed on them and concurrently to interest as many students as possible in Harry Potter. "Life being portrayed through language is what I find amazing, and I love sharing its intricacies."

Savevone Sonsynath ('13) (also known as Savy) is recognized at school for her crazy, but awesome dancing. If you looked at her iPod a few of the artists you would see are Deadmou, Tisto and Daftpunk. Her favorite kind of music to dance to is techno because she believes it is upbeat. Erin Cravens ('13) shared, "Savy is an amazing dancer!" Savy loves to do the moon walk and that's no surprise considering who her inspiration is! "I look up to Michael Jackson and his dancing" Savy stated enthusiastically.

The Absolute Value of our Math Classes

Sears, Cook, Roman, Schleicher, these are only a few of the names you may hear when your classmates talk about their math class. "I think math classes are pretty boring, but we all know they are very important," states Summer Ort ('14). Of course not all students love math, but many enjoy the complicated equations and quizzical theorems. "I think that math class is easy," says Garrett McPhail ('12). Here at Northern, the variety of math classes supplied to the students differ from the complexity of Algebra to AP Calculus. Though many believe some problems may be difficult, Jimmy Smith states, "I think math class can be fun if you are willing to learn!"

-Gage Nowaczyk ('12)

Mrs Carleton is a good teacher because she is organized and has a good teaching style."

-Nicole Bachmann ('13)

"Algebra and stats were my favorite math classes. The teachers always helped me when I needed it."

-Joe Smith ('11)

"Math is not my favorite subject because at times it is too hard."

-Lauren London ('14)

"I really Like Geometry because of the shapes."

-Lindsey Sheridan ('12)

While listening attentively to Mrs. Sears, Jeff Blair ('12) does a practice problem with his calculator. "It is what is is," he says when asked about his algebra two math class.

That peer that you can pick up the phone anytime and talk to for hours, or that kid who's always there for a movie or some video games, these situations are often what defines a best friend. "I kind of think of us as sisters," shared Nicole McMahon ('14) when Emily Gates ('14) was mentioned. Even though they mostly hang out in school they also get together on weekends. Josh Burleigh ('14) says grinning, "I see them laughing in the hallways a lot."

- Sarah Harvey ('12)

"When reading I feel like I'm there with the characters!"

- Emily Kearns ('13)

I Am Creative

"My favorite part about ELA is novel day," says Chelsea Koehn ('12) ELA is a subject enjoyed by many students. Students like it because of novel days and creative writing. But it helps that there are many great teachers. Erin Johnson ('13) says that Mrs. Kearns is her favorite teacher because "she is very energetic!" ELA is just known to be the class where you can be creative and be yourself. Written by: Nicole Bachmann ('13)

"My aunt wet her pants while we were bungi jumping," Trevor Drulia ('13). Trevor and his family went bungi jumping together in 2007 at Darian Lake. They had a lot of fun but it was "just as nerve-wracking as everyone expects it to be" adds Trevor. As a guy of many interests, Trevor also enjoys participating in school clubs and keeping his grades in top shape. When he leaves Northern Trevor wants to go to college and become a lawyer.

3.5 Assembly

I am Driven to Succeed

On November 1st, 2010 students with a grade point average of 3.5 or higher participated in the 3.5 assembly. These students are recognized for their hard work and academic performance. Students' individual names are called off as teachers, parents, and peers sit in the bleachers to watch. These students serve as inspiration to those in the stands and show the rewards of hard work. The students also officially meet the foreign exchange students of the current year as they each give a speech describing their experiences in America. It is a rewarding event for everyone.

She is an energetic, loving friend to many at northern with a great sense of humor. Andrea Mitnick ('11) is a high-quality student here at northern. So what is the story behind this happy girl? She has lived out of the country and I mean in Europe such as Finland and Norway. Living in other places has allowed Andrea the opportunity to see things in a special way. "I'm able to see things outside of the box. I don't really judge, I am accepting." She shared thoughtfully. She is definitely a unique contribution to PHN. Erin Armstrong ('13)

As an average teenager who works at McDonalds, likes going to movies with friends, and loves shopping at Macy's, Anne Moore ('11) has much more to her than what meets the eye. When she was asked how she would like to be remembered when she leaves high school, Anne answered, "if I was to be remembered for something, I would like it to be for being unique, for being unafraid of who I am." What is the most rewarding part of Students for a Healthy America?

"It's really rewarding to know that we have the chance to make a difference in a kid's life."

For Lindsey Marsh ('12) photography and writing are a big part of her life. "Photography is a form of expression for me," says Lindsey. Shes been perfecting this hobby since she was young. She likes to make scenery, animals (prefferably cats) and people, the subjects of her photos. She enjoys writing poetry and short stories. "I am inspired by past experiences and my thoughts." Lindsey plans to minor in photography, and major in English.

A Meeting of the Minds...
Quiz bowl is the one time where students get to engage in fierce competition without breaking a sweat. The individuals who make up the quiz bowl team show their competence with mental strength and quick thumbs. During such an event the knowledge of each team is tested with questions the average high school student may not know. The members themselves study things that may come up which is pretty much anything! So here's to one team who doesn't need big muscles and special uniforms to show that they can take the competition.

"I've had a love for basketball since I was little," Austin Shell ('11) shared. When the name Austin Shell is heard in Northern hallways two words come to mind..basketball and tall! But this doesn't come easy. Austin practices at least 45 minutes a day. Coach Jamison said, "Austin has put in a lot of time on his own, he has proved himself to be a basketball player." From the first time he dunked the ball in 8th grade to receiving his full ride scholarship to Austin has shown his dedication. Erin Armstrong ('13)

I am Energy

Even though moves such as the windmill, drop spins, figure eights, and pop tosses are basic moves for those beginning color guard, this hardly means that they are easy to master. With Port Huron Northern's color guard team practicing twice a week every week, it is especially difficult to excel in these moves. One of the captains, Emily Shevnock ('12) says, "I want color guard to be good and look good." The other captain Hannah Griffin ('12) states, "My friend got me to try out sophomore year and i just fell in love with it. It's cool to be the visual part of the band." Marching Band and Color Guard go hand in hand on the football feild when performing for husky fans. "the better we look, the better the band looks; and if the band is good, it makes our school look better!" says Summer Ort ('14). Keeping time and moving to the right beat takes skill and precision. Color Guard brings out more energy than many other organizations.

DONNA AKIN-SHERWOOD

Key Club is a student run organization whose goal is to teach leadership through serving others. Donna Akin-Sherwood is doing just that. She organized the Cell Phones for Soldiers Program for the Key Club to participate in. Cell phones for soldiers is a program in which you turn old cell phones into pre-paid calling cards for U.S. troops overseas. Donna helped the Key Club develop drop boxes and put them in various locations and students could drop off old cell phones. These phones were sold to a company who in return sent calling cards to the troops. This is just one way Donna and the Key Club are making our community more caring and showing our thanks to the troops.

Nothing will stand between Nate Bricker ('11) and wrestling. Nate has been wrestling for about eight years and started wrestling when he was in fourth grade by being involved in wrestling clubs. His favorite memories are riding the bus on the way to meets. Nate says his biggest accomplishment was being a qualifier for regionals. "Only three guys from our wrestling team qualified for regionals this year so it's a really big deal," states Austin Picking ('11). Nate's passion for wrestling is never-ending.

"Our mission is to recognize our similarities in order to celebrate our differences."

Friends may come and go, but family is forever. That works out just fine for this girl. Taylor Matthew's ('13) family is very important to her. Taylor and her family have the tradition of going to Michigan's Adventure every summer. "It's a great way my family and I can have fun and spend time with each other." she says. This tradition is a big part of why Taylor is close to her family.

Symphonic band is not just your average band. It is considered a middle band which means it's not a freshman band but not as advanced as Wind Ensemble either. Symphonic Band has a variety of talented students who are intrested in progressing their musical abilities. They perform for MSBOA which is considered a difficult competitor. This year, Symphonic Band recieved all 1's on the scoring table. The highest possible score! Joe Smith says, "Symphonic Band is a great experience and if you get involved you won't regret it. Have you ever seen that girl around school that is constantly on crutches? If so, it just might be Amber Downs ('11) you have been seeing. Amber recently had surgery on her foot so hopefully we won't be seeing those crutches for a long time.

Courtney Fleet ('12) is the kind of girl that you might see solving a Rubik's cube or hanging out with friends, especially her best friend Hannah Reinhard ('12). Sports United. Dedicated. Passionate. We are one.

It's the teamwork, the dedication, and the perseverance. It's the passion, hard work and the commitment to the team. This is what makes a team, and this is what makes the win. "It feels a lot better. We're actually winning," stated Nate Bricker ('11) "We play more as a team than as individuals."

"Football, unlike many other sports, has no off season," said John Jackson ('12). Practice is tough, and the boys have to push themselves mentally and physically to the limit. "The practices are a lot harder but it's worth it," said Austin Pickering ('11). Five days a week, three hours a day is nothing short of rigorous. The boys practice with everything they've got to keep up their record. "After we win a game it feels like all the hard work has been paid off. The harder you work, the better the outcome," said Sebastian Taylor ('12).

In the eyes of the students, a football game represents school spirit. In the eyes of a football player, the game represents a battle over respect and territory. When the opponent walks onto the field, they need to be prepared. We're ready to fight, welcome to the dog pound.

Walking the halls of Port Huron Northern, you may see a lot of people listening to their iPods. One of those people could be Tyler Barthel ('11). He enjoys music, and is constantly listening to his iPod. "In ten years I will go to SC4 and be working at Jet's," said Tyler. Most people don't know what they're doing in the future, but Tyler already has a plan. Tyler also likes taking chances, "If I had a million dollars, I would spend it on the lottery." Tyler is definitely someone worth knowing.

Do you sing? Or maybe plan an instrument? Meet Cody Harnden, former lead singer of the band Walking Past No Where. His experience on the road with his band included 15 shows over a year. "Music is my passion, it's something everyone relates to." Jason Mraz was Cody's inspiration. "He's the only reason I picked up a guitar." At the age of six he took his first singing lesson, now he sings in concert choir, in the future he wants to sing professionally at Berkeley.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Not just a sport.

Dedication. Endurance. Strength. We are huskies! PHN's Varsity Basketball team is not only a team together on the court, but off as well. Mark Perez ('11) stated, "Most of us played football together," the boys have been a team for a long time. Having a strong bond creates fluidity on the court.

When asked what are the pros to having a close team, Pedro Teal ('11) exclaimed, "We are goony, so all we do is win, win, win no matter what. Everybody tries to jack our swag and we call em 'swagger jackers'." Most of the players have grown up together and played from start to finish. It's great to play with the kids you've played with your entire Northern Basketball career," says Eric Oppliger ('11).

Game after game they put everything they have into each play. Whether it was dunking the ball or making that awesome pass, each player does everything they can to make the game a success. To most people, winning may seem like everything, but to these boys, basketball isn't just a sport, it's life.

There's not a place Andrew loves more than the tennis court. Andrew Cansfield ('13) is a die hard tennis player. He's on his 10th year playing and was even on Varsity last year. Outside of school, Andrew plays singles all year round. Andrew says, "I would love to meet John Isner because he's an amazing tennis player and he's tall, like me." "Tennis is Andrew's passion," says Shaker Samman ('13). Andrew wants to play tennis in college, but even if he doesn't he will continue to play until he can't anymore.

What's your favorite memory from this past season?

"Beating PH 4-0. This was an important win, it got the team back on track for districts."

"The season was really fun, it was a great way to end my senior year and have fun."

I am a team player.

Soccer, like many sports, is all about teamwork. Our boys have to work as one to beat their opponents. "All of us working together towards one goal brings us closer because we have to rely on each other to do their part," says Jeff Blair ('12). When you're on the field your team is like your family and as in every family there has to be a leader. For the soccer team there's two, Daniel Jennings ('11) and Leon Boyd-Cleaver ('11). "Being a captain is an honor. It feels good to be one. It makes me feel like a leader and everyone looks up to me," said Leon. A goal of the team is to work together as a unit, but no team is perfect, "All teams are going to hit some bumps on the road," said Paul Karasiewicz ('13). When this happens, "we just have to come together as a team and perform," stated David Brown ('13).

Meet Ashley Garza ('13), she has a passion for guitar and a set of lungs on her. Ashley jams on her electric guitar to Nirvana, her favorite band. Ashley even has a knack at composing her own lyrics. "My emotions and struggles inspire me," Ashley said.

I am a sports fanatic. Even when you just start High School, it's beneficial to have some idea of what you want to do with your life. For Brandon Adair ('14), his life revolves around sports. He's been participating in sports for nine years now, and when he's older he hope to become a sport therapist. "I think that Brandon's career choice totally suits his lifestyle," says Trevor Lumpkins ('14).

BREATHE WRESTLING

They're consumed by wrestling. Wake up, school, practice, sleep, repeat. Every Saturday they have an all day tournament. And every Sunday, they get as much sleep as possible. But in the end, it's so worth it. "I feel accomplished [when I win a match]. With me being a junior on the team, I feel like I have to show the underclassmen that you have to win, and lead by example," stated Mitchell Schrader ('12).

The boys have to follow a strict diet and intense workout to achieve their weight goal. When asked how his diet changes during the season, Kevin Nguyen ('12) said, "Drastically! I drink a gallon of water everyday. Water is a key to weight cutting and is basically my best friend. Six meals a day that are 200 to 300 calories, some nights I only eat a can or a half a can of tuna." It takes perseverance to stay as in shape and focused as our wrestlers, and they're nothing short of committed.

Do you know what you want to be when you grow up? Well Brandon Craven ('11) stated, "I want to go to Wyotech trade school/college so that I can earn my degree for auto body collision and repair." He seems very determined to excel in this field. He currently attends St. Clair County T.E.C. for a so called pre-requisite to this career. James Pierce ('11) commented, "I know Brandon very well, we're in the T.E.C. class and he is good at what he does, but the best quality of his skills in the job field is that when he does something he does it right." This shows his dedication and love of the trade. We all should strive for this level of dedication and doing things right.

A Team On and off the Court

When coming to a huge high school like Northern it makes you wonder if you're good enough, if you can take on this school. That's when you enter the gym floor. Stormy Troxel expressed, "Being part of the freshman volleyball team helped me feel welcome at Northern because I got to meet new people and became good friends with them." All of a sudden it doesn't matter if you ride solo, or have a huge social circle. "Being on the volleyball team has helped me with my confidence at school," shared Carrie Scheffler. Confidence is inspired when you're surrounded by people that you know believe in you. "Being on the team makes me feel good because I made the team and I feel like a good volleyball player," stated Melissa Serazin. A teammate, is someone who will help you try to improve your volleyball skills on the court, but is also more than happy to help you find your class. You will certainly find support on the Northern Freshman volleyball team.

Samuel Aguinaga ('11) has cherished every moment of being a senior. He enjoys painting his chest and yelling for the football games. No matter how cold it is out. It's "pretty crazy, really fun, and I get a lot of attention," he describes. He was not sure if he would do that again though... Sam also has focused a lot of time on AP classes, "It's a challenge, has its benefits. Also prepares me for college." He also has plans to attend Michigan State University, "I am more an academic guy than sports, but my friends and I are planning an Ultimate Frisbee Club!" Overall Sam is very school spirited, and has goals for himself that will one day make him amazing.

Whether it's the disappointment of a ball in the gutter, or the satisfying sound of the pins falling down, bowling is always fun. For most people, bowling is a time to relax, eat food, and hang out with friends, but for PHN's bowling team, it's serious business. The team works hard at practices on improving their technique. "We work on how to curve the ball depending on what hand you use, out walk to the lane and angle strategies for different shots," explained Lindsay Ottowitz ('13). As they say, "practice makes perfect," and this sport is no exception to that. "One of the things about bowling is getting to meet new people while having fun and improving your game, said Erica Campbell ('13). Hard work and dedication is what it takes to improve your skill at anything. "When you win a match, it really makes all the hard work pay off," stated Heather Krauss ('14). The want or that accomplished feeling after winning is why the team works so hard and pushes each other to do their best. "The bowling team is like a big family, we loved working as a team and coming to have great season, said Andrea Mitrink ('11).

I am active. Senior Claire Secory ('11) is full of husky pride. Claire is an active person who enjoys both running and working out at the gym. Claire participated in Cross Country as a Sophomore and Junior and ran Track as a freshman. Although she is no longer a competitive runner, she still enjoys the stress relieving powers it has. As fellow senior Melissa McCracken ('11) puts it, "Claire is just an awesome girl, she's full of energy and she has tons of husky pride."

Imagine, thousands of people will see Northern's yearbook and Rachael Pincomb and myself, Ariel MacDonald, would like to thank the handful of people that made it possible to create a book that will recreate memories for years to come. This is dedicated to the awesome parents, patient coaches and staff, and wonderful Yearbook staff that Rachael and I had the honor of working with.

We would like to give a special thanks to those who took pictures for us: Todd Dalton (T.Dalton Photography), Ron Romalesv (Lifetouch Photography), and Joel Weston.

Over a yearbook's lifetime, thousands of people will re-experience the events captured in its pictures. Rachael and I wanted to create the best product possible, I feel like we have, and it wouldn't have been possible without those who shot pictures and provided crucial information for us.

Once again, thank you. We are honored to have worked with people that are so dedicated to Northern.

Jule Kovar

In Loving Memory of Jule Kovar, who will always be a part of the class of 2011 in Spirit . . .

One thing about this journey
There are few guarantees
The wind, the rain, the hurricane
Can bring us to our knees
O blow ye winds in harbor
Let your spirits soar
You cannot sail the sea of love
Anchored to the shore
O blow ye winds in the morning
Let your heart fly free
The sea of love is calling
C'mon sail away with me
From "The Sea of Love"

Shadows Of Yesterday

Psalm 23

1 The LORD is my shepherd, I shall not be in want.

2 He makes me lie down in green pastures,
he leads me beside quiet waters,

3 he restores my soul
He guides me in paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

4 Even though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death,
I will fear no evil,
for you are with me;
your rod and your staff,
they comfort me.

5 You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies;
you anoint my head with oil;
my cup overflows.

6 Surely goodness and love will follow me
all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of the LORD forever.

Whitney Hudy

Our daughter came to us on Friday the 13th of August. We knew she would be something special. At the age three, she won the Blue Water Tot Contest. While dancing with Main Street, she was chosen twice to dance with the Rapid City Rockets at the Fox Theatre. She has been in several school plays and dinner shows. Most memorable character was Violet in Willy Wonka. Whitney has always been my roller coaster partner and fishing buddy. She enjoys shopping with her mother. She choose the Nursing Program and continues to get good grades. We are very proud of her choices and admire her daily.
